Barry Cleaveland, IAII, proposed the following resolution to the Board:

RESOLVED, That, in lieu of an extension of time, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation's Board of Directors (Board) suspend action on the pilot Livestock Gross Margin (LGM) insurance policy until such time as IAII resubmits its proposal ready for Board approval and potential implementation that addresses the problems with the program raised by expert reviewers, Risk Management Agency (RMA) staff and legal counsel. RMA will have 15 days to evaluate the resubmission for completeness prior to consideration by the Board. If not complete, the resubmission will be returned to IAII. Once the resubmission is determined to be complete, the Board will make a determination within 15 days whether expert reviews are then necessary. If expert reviews are necessary, the Board will proceed as soon as possible to contract for such reviews, and upon receipt of those reviews, the Board will have 45 days to take action on the resubmission. If expert reviews are not required, the Board will have 45 days after the determination that they are not necessary to take action on the resubmission.

A motion was made and seconded to accept IAII's proposal and to suspend Board action on the pilot LGM insurance policy submission as proposed by IAII.

The motion carried. (This action tables Board Memorandum No. 624; Exhibit No. 2061, for consideration at a future Board meeting.)
