Second Draft (Feb. 23, 2010)

Final Draft (June 10, 2010)

I. A&O Subsidy

A&O Subsidy Payment:

A&O subsidy established as a fixed percentage of Net Book Premium.

(Net Book Premium determined by annual price of commodity; can vary substantially from year to year)

A&O subsidy established as a Percentage of “Adjusted Net Book Premium”

(Adjusted Net Book Premium uses fixed prices based on 10-year NASS average (1999-2008) for 7 major commodities representing about 85% of FCIC business)

Same as current SRA (no reference prices), except:

1. Overall A&O maximum subsidy payment not to exceed certain threshold (approximately $1.3 billion in 2011).

2. Written to protect companies against significant decline in crop prices.

3. Exceptions to limitations:

- New crop/county programs
- Area plans
- Additional A&O subsidy paid in states with 120% or greater loss ratios

4. Maximum limitation adjusted annually for expected inflation.
